Introduction

Advanced Vocabulary and Idiom is for students who already have a good command of the basic structures of English and who now wish to increase their range of vocabulary and idiom, and to gain more knowledge of particular styles of English. It gives invaluable assistance to students preparing for advanced examinations in English.

To the student

Advanced Vocabulary and Idiom presents words and phrases from a wide variety of topics and gives practice in different styles of English, such as formal, colloquial and slang, advertising and newspaper headlines. The types of exercises are varied and students are helped to understand not only what the words mean but also how they are used. Learners on their own should avoid going through the book mechanically. Exercises should be done at intervals and as a supplement to other materials and activities, and students should give themselves time to practise what they have learnt before going on to learn more. It is not satisfactory simply to complete the exercises and understand the new words in them. Learners must actually use the words in conversation, composition and letters before they can feel confident that these words are part of their active vocabulary.

To the teacher

Advanced Vocabulary and Idiom is divided into twelve sections, each concentrating on a different aspect of vocabulary and its use. Dictionary Practice is designed to increase students' awareness of the ways in which a dictionary can be used. Topics and Related Word Groups introduce new words and phrases as useful preparation for conversation and composition on given subjects. Word Formation contains exercises to increase awareness of how words are constructed. Problem Words is intended as a reference section to be used as and when problems arise with particular words and phrases. Idiom introduces groups of common idiomatic words and phrases, and requires students to put them in the contexts provided. Identification contains brief comprehension exercises in particularly areas of vocabulary. The Description exercises first provide practical comprehension practice based on certain kinds of common description, and then require students to use what they have learnt in this process by giving similar descriptions of their own. The exercises in Style assist students systematically to understand formal, colloquial and other more specialist forms of English and then, where it is useful, require them to produce the same kind of language themselves. Spoken English introduces certain common colloquial forms and will be especially useful for students who do not study in English-speaking countries and therefore do not have the advantage of hearing this kind of language around them. The Miscellaneous section contains a variety of exercises: Geo-political Names will help students to understand newspapers and other mass media; Names and Titles and Abbreviations give practical information about everyday English usage; Foreign Words and Phrases, Proverbs and Euphemisms provide useful knowledge of commonly-used expressions. Word Games provide entertaining puzzles.

Dictionary Practice

Use a good dictionary to do the following exercises. If you like, you can try to do them without help first, but check your answers in a dictionary afterwards.

Pronunciation

In each three-word group below, circle the two words which have the same-sounding underlined parts.

Examples: e.g. (finger) danger (hunger)

- a) sword swear switch
- b) quay play see
- c) ought colonel third
- d) bottle company flood
- e) timber number climber warn (farm) (part)

- f) yacht caught hot
- q) rise advise practise
- h) theatre those think
- (i aisle sigh date
- j) store coat low

In each of the four-word groups below, two words rhyme. Circle the 2 rhyming pairs.

Examples: (beat) great (heat) sit phone done gone shone

- b) story lorry worry hurry c) bomb comb some dome
- d) saw owe go how
- e) hour four door throw

- f) show how rough though
- g) bough tough stuff grow
- h) hard word third lord

All too many find, however, that the glamorous façade is false. One can be very alone in the city and the (f) _____ which at first seems to give freedom and protection later leaves just loneliness. There is a lot to do but everything is expensive. The (g) ______ is high. There is (h) _____ not only of the physical but also of the moral environment and the various pressures of (i) life cause cities (j) Above all, perhaps, it is the daily stresses and strains of the city which make life there a matter of survival rather than of enjoyment. Many a (k) struggling to work through the rushhour (l) asks, 'Is it worth it?' Issues of Education Put each of the following words or phrases in its correct place in the passage. elite divisive potential aifted spontaneity classless cram streaming conventional labelled privileged inferiority complex It is interesting that in some countries which are socialist and therefore supposedly (a) _____, the educational system is based on (b) ____, which means that children are educated according to their ability, with the more (c) children separated from the others. Supporters of this system say that more intelligent children will be helped to achieve their full (d) _____ in this way and that these children will be held back if they have to share lessons with less clever pupils. Opponents of this system, on the other hand, maintain that it creates an educated (e) _____, a special class of (f) _____ people who are encouraged to think of themselves as superior to the others. Similarly the others may, as a result of being (g) ______ second-rate, develop some kind of (h) _____. In a word, such a system is (i) since it creates a division between people. Another important question in education is the amount of freedom and choice children should be given at school. The conservative view is that a (j) _____ system of strict rules is best. However, critics of this attitude say it causes regimentation, as in the army, and discourages children's natural imagination and (k) _____. We must ask ourselves what the purpose of education is: to (I) children's heads with facts or to encourage them to develop their natural abilities in their own way?

Fashion in Clothes

Put each of the following words or phrases in its correct place in the passage. slaves to fashion slavishly trends individualists fashion houses trendv conformists dictate the latest fashion dictates personal ornaments haute couture Most people like to think they are (a) _____ and simply wear whatever they like. Few people will admit to being (b) _____. However we are not just talking of the expensive (c) _____ of the Paris and Milan (d) _ ____, which not many people can afford anyway. We are talking of fashions and (e) _____ in everyday clothes. We say that we wear jeans and sweaters because they are cheap and practical, but isn't it true that our jeans and sweaters tend to be the same as everyone else wears? Doesn't that mean that we like to be (f) ? Of course the big chain-stores, to some extent, (g) _____ what we wear, but they always offer a choice and people do, on the whole, like to wear (h) ______, which extends beyond clothes to make-up, (i) (men wear earrings too, nowadays) and hair styles. It is easy to declare that we do not (j) ______ follow the (k) _____ of fashion, but aren't we all (l) ____ at heart? The Environment Put each of the following words or phrases in its correct place below. sewage enlightened pesticides sustainable acid rain ecological | organic deforestation herbicides extinction animal rights disposal When industrialisation began, little thought was given to its (a) _____ effects. Raw, untreated (b) was allowed to pollute our seas and rivers. Animals were killed for profit to the point of (c) _____. The loss of trees through uncontrolled (d) _____ caused erosion and unstable climate. (e) _____ was caused by the poisonous gases man sent into the atmosphere. Chemicals in (f) _____ killed animal life. (g) ____ destroyed plants. The balance of nature was disturbed. It is only now that we are waking up to the problem. More natural, (h) ____ farming is advocated. Legislation controls the (i) _____ of waste products into our air and water. How Much Freedom Should Children Have?

upbringing

Put each of the following words or phrases in its correct place below.

permissive

suppress formative adolescence run wild inhibited authoritarian juvenile delinguency It is often said that we live in a (a) age, one in which people are allowed to do almost anything they like. Is this good for children? They are going through their (b) _____, which is a very (c) ____ stage of their development since their final adult characters are beginning to take shape. Some parents think it is good for children to be allowed to (d) _____, without control or supervision. They say that this enables children's personalities to develop naturally and that they will learn to be responsible by the mistakes they make. However, this might lead to (e) _ with the children ending up in the courts, or it might simply make children selfcentred, without any consideration for others. Other parents believe in being strict, but taken to extremes this can produce a too (f) _____ atmosphere in the home, with the children being dominated and ruled by their parents. Parents can also be and try to keep their children dependent on them. These last two attitudes can encourage (h) (against parents, school, authority) in a child, or, conversely. (i) a child's natural sense of adventure and curiosity. A strict (i) by over-caring parents can make a child so timid and (k) that he or she is unable to express freely his or her emotions and form mature relationships. To bring up children to be normal, well-adjusted human beings requires great wisdom, and perhaps a bit of luck.

Censorship

Put each of the following words or phrases in its correct place below. moral standards perverted banned masquerading degrades safeguards unscrupulous excessive infringes corrupting gratuitous counter-productive The amount of offensive material we are exposed to in films nowadays is surely (a) ______ Most people accept that scenes of sex and violence are sometimes necessary to tell a story, but all too often these scenes are (b) they are unnecessary and simply inserted in the film to appeal to the baser human instincts. Censorship is necessary, especially to protect children from the (c) influence of such scenes, often (d) _____ as art, in our cinemas. There should also be censorship of pornographic magazines produced by (e) people willing to cater to the (f) ____ tastes of a small minority. Such material destroys the innocence of the young and (g) _____ all who read it. On the other hand, there are those who say that something which is (h) becomes desirable so censorship is (i) _____, and that censorship (j) _____ on our freedom of choice. However freedom is not merely freedom to do what we want but freedom from attempts to destroy society's (k) ______ by which society protects itself. Love Put each of the following words in its correct place below. flirtation infatuation partners platonic mature compatible one-sided hero-worship idolize complement stable mutual Youngsters in their teens or even earlier sometimes (a) film stars or other celebrities with a kind of blind, devoted (b) _____. The objects of such adoration are regarded as gods by their smitten worshippers. How sad that such devotion is almost always unrequited (though pop-stars have been known to marry their fans). Young people also sometimes develop an irrational obsession for another, often older, person which is not an adult, (c) ______ feeling but simply a youthful (d) _____ At parties a boy may playfully try to attract a girl, or vice versa, without intending any serious, lasting relationship. This is just a (e) _____. A relationship which gives deep and lasting happiness to both (f) _____ must not be (g) _ (felt more strongly by one of the pair than by the other). It should be based on a (h) love and respect, felt equally by each of the two. Of course it can take many forms. It might be very deep but entail no physical desire, in which case it is described as (i) . Certainly, for any relationship to be (i) the two people involved must be (k) ____ (they must get on well together). This does not necessarily mean that they must have attitudes and interests in common, for partnerships of opposites can work very well. The different characters of the two people somehow (I) _____ each other.

Attitudes to Work and Leisure

Put each of the following words or phrases in its correct place below. constructively rewarding challenge conditioned initiative 9 to 5 aimless creativity fulfilment regimentation scope aspire Most adults (a) _____ to more leisure but, in fact, not many people have the necessary (b) _____ to use the free time they already have very (c) _____. The sad fact is that we need work because it imposes the discipline we need. Life seems (d) _____ and we secretly look forward to our work again. We dream about personal (e) _____ but probably find it more in our work than in our leisure time. This depends on age. The young are free from work and responsibility, and freedom comes naturally to them. However, after they begin jobs they become (f) to work. They find they need it, however much they complain about its routine and (g) _____. Obviously this again depends on the kind of work. Those with (h) ______, receive genuine satisfaction from their work, but most of us are in conventional (i) ______ jobs which offer little (k) _____ for imagination. We leave our work only to face a leisure that we find difficult to cope with. Our mistake is in regarding leisure as a chance to do nothing, whereas in fact it should be looked on as a (I) ______. The Purpose of State Punishment Put each of the following words or phrases in its correct place below. wrongdoer deterrent law-abiding death penalty misdeeds reform humane rehabilitate barbaric retribution crime doesn't pay corporal punishment What is the purpose of punishment? One purpose is obviously to (a) _____ the offender, to correct the offender's moral attitudes and anti-social behaviour and to (b) _____ him or her, which means to assist the offender to return to normal life as a useful member of the community. Punishment can also be seen as a (c) _____, because it warns other people of what will happen if they are tempted to break the law and so prevents them from doing so. However, a third purpose of punishment lies, perhaps, in society's desire for (d) _____, which basically means revenge. In other words, don't we feel that a (e) _____ should suffer for his (f) ? The form of punishment should also be considered. On the one hand, some believe that we should 'make the punishment fit the crime'. Those who steal from others should be deprived of their own property to ensure that criminals are left in no doubt that (g) '______'. For those who attack others, (h) ______ should be used. Murderers should be subject to the principle 'an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth' and automatically receive the (i) ______. On the other hand, it is said that such views are unreasonable, cruel and (j) _____ and that we should show a more (k) _____ attitude to punishment and try to understand why a person commits a crime and how society has failed to enable him to live a respectable, (I) ____ life.

'POSH'

'Posh' means 'smart', 'upper-class'. It is said that the word originated when wealthy people travelled by ship to and from India when it was under British rule. To avoid the hot sun in the Indian Ocean during the voyage, the richer passengers specified that their cabins should be on the left side ('port') of the ship going out to India, and on the right side ('starboard') on the way home. Port Out, Starboard Home: POSH.

COCKNEY RHYMING SLANG

The Cockneys of the East End of London devised their own slang, making words and phrases, still used, which rhymed with the normal words.

apples and pears (stairs) trouble and strife (wife) plates of meat (feet) rub-a-dub (pub) loaf of bread (head) dicky-bird (word) whistle and flute (suit) frog and toad (road)
north and south (mouth)
butcher's hook (look)
Rosy Lee (tea)
Joanna (piano)

The problem, however, in trying to guess the meanings of these words is that the rhyming part is often dropped and people simply say:

'What's that? Let's have a butcher's.'

'Come on! Use your loaf!'

'That's a nice whistle you're wearing.'

False Friends

Speakers of other, mainly European, languages may come across certain English words and because they look similar to words in their own language wrongly assume that the meaning is the same. The confusion might be because of a chance similarity in spelling; because the original meaning, in one or other language, has changed over the years; or because the original word was borrowed from one language and, from the start, used differently in the other. Such words are called 'false friends'.

In each pair of words below, the first word is the false friend and the second is the word it is often confused with. Put each word in its correct place in the sentences which follow each pair.

CLICHÉS

A cliché is an expression that has been used over and over again. Many people scorn clichés as unoriginal, hackneyed terms to be avoided, but in fact they have become clichés because they are so apt and fit the situation so well. Anything can become a cliché if it is overused. Here is a selection.

Crime doesn't pay.
Time flies.
Home sweet home.
It's a funny old world.

Life is what you make it. Isn't nature wonderful! Her death was a merciful release. He is a pillar of the community.

NATIONALITY IDIOMS

English often uses the names of other countries in common phrases. If two or more people at a restaurant or pub go dutch, they all pay for themselves. If you can't make sense of written instructions, you say 'It's all Greek to me'. If warm, dry weather continues into autumn, it's an Indian summer. Do you know what Dutch courage is? And where would you see a Mexican wave? And what is Russian roulette?

Identification

Objects

In each of the following passages someone is referring to a well-known object. Identify each object and give at least five words which helped you to decide.

- (a) The mudguards are a bit loose and quite a bit of wet comes up at me when it's raining and the gears don't work very well and there are a couple of spokes missing. And maybe I should replace the pedals. They're worn and my feet slipped off this morning and I had to hang onto the handlebars and pull up quickly. Luckily the brake-blocks were OK.
- (b) It's quite posh-looking, made of calf, hand-sewn, with brass hinges. There are compartments inside the lid for various documents. It's 16" x 12" x 3" and it's got my initials in gold near the handle.
- (c) I can easily find the volume knob to turn it up because it's on the far right at the bottom. And then there's the brightness control next to it and then the buttons for the different channels. The picture's good except for a bit of a flicker sometimes and there's interference when someone's using a vacuum-cleaner. Otherwise it's OK.
- (d) The frontispiece is a photograph of Churchill. It's very much thumbed and coffee-stained, the binding is loose and the spine is so faded that you can scarcely read the title. God knows where the dust-jacket went. It was pretty tattered anyway.
- (e) It's nothing special, not a grand, just an ordinary old upright. Needs tuning, as you'll hear. Open the lid and you'll see the keyboard. The pedals are a bit stiff. Sit down. Have a go.
- (f) The face is a bit scratched and the strap is only plastic, with a cheap metal buckle. You wind it by turning the little knob. The case is stainless steel. It cost me about fifteen quid.
- (g) There's not much foliage at the moment. It's deciduous. But it still looks lovely to me. I like the rough bark and the sturdy trunk. Just think, a hundred years ago it was just a sapling. I hope they don't plan to fell it.
- (h) Take a look at this. Hold it. Touch the trigger. Spin the chamber. That's where you put the cartridges in. This is the safety-catch, but don't worry, it's not loaded. In fact I've got no ammunition. How would you like to find yourself staring into the muzzle of a thing like this?
- (i) Let me unfold it. Here's the scale at the bottom, and the key to the various symbols is in the corner. The relief is shown by contour-lines. I love these things. I should have been a cartographer.

Newspaper Parts

Below are 18 typical extracts from different parts of a newspaper. Identify each one with one of the following words or phrases.

obituary	football report	television preview	headline

- (a) The word is that Clinton Ross, 32, playboy son of US steel billionaire Dwight Ross, has left his girlfriend, actress Lee-Ann Van Post, 26, and is now in Europe.
- (b) Prince Edward (left) enjoys a joke with actor Sam Cool (centre).
- (c) PREMIER TO PROBE RIDDLE OF 'SPIES IN MINISTRY'
- (d) He received a number of international literary awards, culminating in the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1986. He leaves a widow and two sons.
- (e) Today is a good day to do business but a bad one for romance. Don't take members of the opposite sex too seriously today.
- (f) Our front page today gives details of the government's new economic proposals. Our readers may think, as we do, that these measures are too little and too late. We say to the government, not for the first time, it is time...

- (n) Road holding and fuel consumption are good but otherwise the performance lacks zip.

The Arts

The following are parts of newspaper reviews of visual and performing arts and literature. Identify the subject of each (film, novel etc.) and give at least six words which helped you to decide.

- (a) The first movement is dominated by the strings with only occasional percussion participation. So many bows dancing in unison made this a visual as well as an aural delight and I abandoned my score to watch. In the second movement the wind section takes command, and with such vigour that the baton seems to struggle to keep up rather than the reverse. For once I did not envy the man on the rostrum, and was content with my seat in the stalls.
- (b) His favourite medium is now oil, and the canvas which dominates this show, a still-life of bottles, is a masterpiece of representational skill (his early abstracts

- and collages were never good). His technique is superb. The brush-strokes are invisible, the bottles real. Every section of his palette is used. I shall never again think of bottles as colourless. Every hue of the spectrum is there.
- (c) Her weaknesses are characterisation and dialogue. Her strengths are plot and feeling for place. Her characters are two-dimensional, their words wooden, but the events are plausible and the places vividly depicted. The setting is now Mexico City, now Tokyo, now Johannesburg. The twist at the end defies prediction. For once the blurb on the back is true. It says, 'Unputdownable'.
- (d) This new young choreographer has given us an exciting and unconventional piece. Called simply Mixture, it is indeed influenced by classical, folk, progressive and even tap and ballroom besides. The men are agile and athletic, the girls loose-limbed and supple. The leaps are high, the pirouettes prolonged. What more can you want? The night I went they received a standing ovation.
- (e) First-night nerves are notorious, but I have never heard so many lines fluffed, so many cues missed. The prompter was busy last night and the director (and doubtless the backers) in tears. I do not expect this piece to have a long run, but critical reception and box-offices success are often two very different things and, if it does survive, it will have been saved by a number of well-played supporting roles and a stunning set. But the final final curtain cannot, I think, be far off.

Occupations

In each of the following passages someone is talking about his or her occupation. Identify each occupation and give at least five words or phrases which helped you to decide.

- (a) Most of my customers are very particular. They want wide lapels or narrow lapels, a single vent or a double vent or no vent at all, turn-ups or plain bottoms. Flared trousers are out nowadays, so are tapered. Everyone wants them straight. Some people are even fussy about the lining. Everyone wants to be trendy.
- (b) When I start at 8.30, the baskets are already stacked, the trolleys are lined up near the door and the shelf-fillers have done their work. I make sure I've got a supply of carrier bags and enough change in the till and I'm ready to start.
- (c) We get the latest weather briefing from the meteorologists and then we board. We say hello to the cabin crew, do a complete cockpit check, then wait for instructions through the headphones to start taxi-ing out to the runway.
- (d) Two discharges today, but five admissions and Mrs Crowther's got to go to theatre this afternoon. They have their mid-morning tea at eleven, then, since it's Tuesday, the specialist will be doing his round at half-past. And there are always relatives' phone-calls to deal with. Next week I'm on night-shift. Excuse me, I must go and change some dressings.
- (e) I picked up a fare at the station today. I was in the rank. Smartly-dressed chap. Wanted St Michael's Church. 'Going to a wedding?' I said. 'Yes, and I'm late. Step on it,' he said. I did my best and as I dropped him off I said, 'Doesn't look as if they've started yet.' 'They can't,' he said, 'I'm the bridegroom.' And he didn't give me a tip!
- (f) We're fully-dressed in our helmets and protective clothing by the time we arrive. Then we start unrolling the hoses and getting the ladders ready in case they're needed. The worst things are hoax alarms. You can never be sure till you get there whether a call is genuine or not. Some people think it's fun to dial 999 ...

(g) I flashed my torch at where they were supposed to go, but they went further down the aisle and along the wrong row. Luckily it was only during the credits or trailer or something, so they didn't disturb people too much. It's usually a pretty routine job, but last week the projectionist fell asleep just before he was supposed to change reels!

Occasions

Each of the following passages is part of a description of an occasion or event. Identify the subject of each description, giving at least six words which helped you to decide

- (a) A warning was given by an anonymous caller saying he represented a separatist movement. The area was evacuated and cordoned off, and attempts were made to defuse the device, but it detonated soon after midnight. Emergency services are now at the scene and are ensuring that no one is left in the building, trapped under the rubble.
- (b) It was all very traditional. The big top, an enormous, striped, canvas thing, was pitched in a car-park and, inside, the wooden benches rose in tiers round the sawdust-filled ring. The high wire was fixed across the top and various bits of equipment were placed outside the ring ready for use, a trampoline, spring-boards and so on. When everyone had taken their seats, the band struck up and the master of ceremonies in his top hat and tails made his entrance.
- (c) At the gates there were crowds of pickets being held back by police. Anyone who went in had to run the gauntlet of jeers, catcalls and shouts of 'scab, scab, scab'. Inside, the machines stood idle and the management held meetings to discuss whether to take a hard line, to submit the dispute to arbitration, to appease the work-force with an acceptable compromise or simply to cave in and meet all demands.
- (d) The jurors filed in and took their places without a glance at the dock, where Smith stood passively. The opposing counsel, their work done, tidied their briefs, smoothed their gowns and put away their books. In the public gallery they talked in low tones. The ushers stood silently at their posts. Then the clerk of the court rose to his feet and cleared his throat...
- (e) The procession moved down the main shopping street chanting slogans, each group behind its leaders, who carried banners and placards. There had been isolated scuffles but, on the whole, the stewards did their job well and onlookers were impressed by the orderliness of the occasion. When the marchers reached the square, they spread out in front of the platform, on either side of which loudspeakers were directed out towards the footsore crowds.

Diagrams

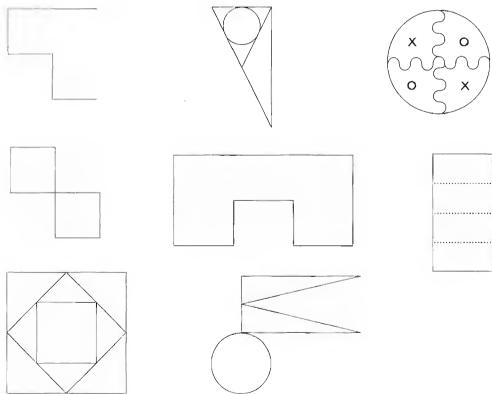

The exercises below give practice in comprehension of expressions which indicate position, shape and size. Draw accurately the diagrams described.

Example: From the mid-point of a vertical broken line, a dotted line extends horizontally to the right. This line is twice the length of the vertical line.

Answer:	1

- (a) A capital 'E' is the wrong way round. Its middle horizontal extends (to the left) so that it is three times as long as each of the other horizontals.
- (b) A square has a wavy line for its upper side. The top right-hand corner of the square is connected to the centre of the square with a straight diagonal line.
- (c) The basic shape is a rectangle with the vertical sides twice as long as the horizontals. A wavy diagonal line connects the top right-hand corner of the rectangle with the bottom left-hand corner. In the right angle of the lower triangle thus formed is a small capital 'A' upside-down. Above the top horizontal, near the left-hand end, is a capital 'S' the wrong way round. From the centre of the right-hand vertical line, a dotted horizontal line extends to the right, the same length as each of the other horizontals, linking with the midpoint of a third vertical line which stands parallel to the other two and of the same length. A straight broken line joins the top end of this vertical line with the bottom right-hand corner of the rectangle, making it parallel with the wavy line.

Write descriptions, like those above, of the following diagrams.

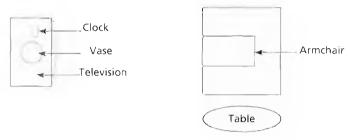

Plans

The exercises below give practice in comprehension of common expressions of position, shape and size. Draw accurately each plan described.

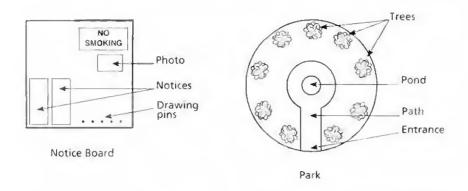

Example: My armchair faces the television set, which has a round vase on it in the middle and a small clock on the right of the vase. Immediately to the left of the armchair, as you sit in it, is an oval table with its greater length parallel to the arms of the chair.

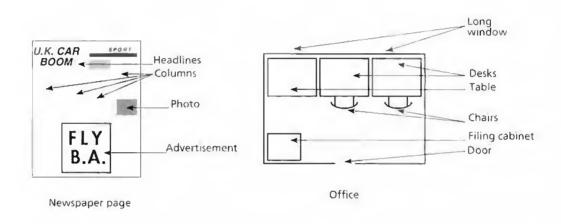

Answer:

- (a) My rectangular desk is about half as wide as it is long and I sit at the left-hand end of one of the longer sides on a chair with a curved back. The telephone is on my right and my business diary is in the corner furthest from me. My typewriter is in the middle of the left-hand half of the desk.
- (b) The park is triangular in shape with the entrance in the middle of the longest side, facing the right-angle corner of the park. To the left as you go in, in the corner, is a round pond with four benches equally spaced round it. A straight path goes right, at an angle, from inside the entrance to a statue of Queen Victoria which stands in the middle of the side facing the pond. On either side of the statue a row of trees extends to the corners of the park.
- (c) The postage stamp is square and has a vertical line from top to bottom a quarter of the way in from the right-hand side. Taking up most of the rectangle on the left is a picture of the head of President Kennedy, facing left, below which, in the bottom left-hand corner, is printed 'USA'. The price of the stamp, fifty cents, is printed in capital letters at the foot of the right-hand strip, the words one above the other, the letters about half the height of 'USA'.
- (d) The room is square with the door in the middle of one wall. The window is opposite the door and takes up one-third of the length of the wall. Below the window and up against the wall is a square writing-table the same length as the window, with a chair at it so that I can look out of the window as I work. My single bed is against the wall to the right as you enter, i.e. it is at right angles to the wall with the door in it. The head of the bed is against the doorwall, so I can see the sky through the window when I wake up, and the bed is just over half the length of the wall. There is just enough room between the bed and the door for a small bed-side table. In the corner to the right of the window is a wash-basin. Between this and the bed is a small wardrobe. My armchair faces the centre of the room from the corner diametrically opposite the wash-basin, i.e. on the left as you enter the room. A book-case stands against the wall facing the wardrobe, and I have a hi-fi set next to it in the corner left of the window.

Write descriptions, like those above, of the following plans.

LETTER PHRASES

Some idiomatic phrases feature letters. What do the following mean?

Have you got an A to Z?

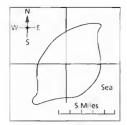

I'll have to watch my p's and g's.

She drops her h's.

We were taught the three R's.

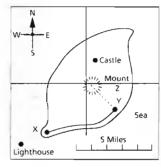

Maps

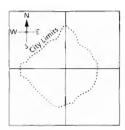

The exercises below give practice in comprehension of basic geographical expressions of position and direction. Draw and mark accurately the places and features described.

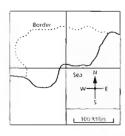

Example: The town of X is at the southernmost tip of the island, from which a road follows the coast to Y, a town halfway along the south-east coast. From Y a path rises to the peak of Mount Z in the centre of the island. Immediately to the north of Mount Z and two miles inland is an old castle. Two miles off X to the south-west is a light-house.

Answer:

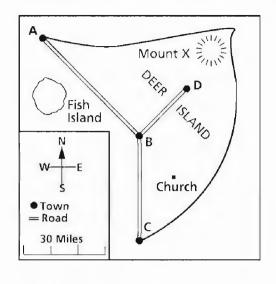

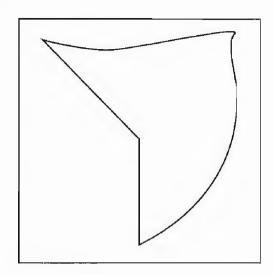

(a) In the centre of the city is the National Assembly, from where Independence Avenue goes straight to the station, at the northernmost point of the city. South of the National Assembly is People's Park, rectangular in shape and extending north to south almost to the southern limits of the city. The park is overlooked by a row of Government Ministry buildings which run alongside it on the east. Just to the west of the city is the University. Equidistant from the National Assembly, the station and the University is the Presidential Palace, just inside the city boundary. It is reached by a straight road which branches off to the left from Independence Avenue just north of the National Assembly.

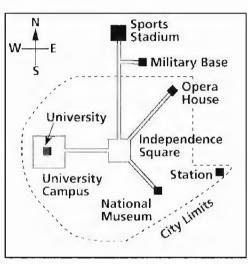

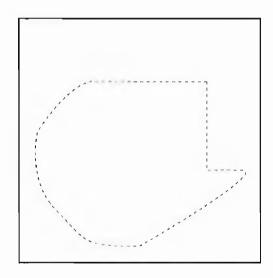

(b) The capital, A, is in the centre of the broad western part of the country, and the Vaz Mountains surround it in a rough semi-circle about 20 miles away, from west to north-east. These mountains continue eastwards along the middle of the narrower part of the country for about 100 miles parallel to the coast. On the coast, south-west of A, is the port of B, which is linked to the gold mines 20 miles inland to the north by a straight road. The country's only railway goes east from A, reaches the coast after about 50 miles and follows the coast as far as the town of C, which is at the country's easternmost extremity. The town of D is half-way along the railway between A and C, and 30 miles off it is Green Island, more or less circular in shape and linked with the mainland only by air to a small airport just north-east of D.

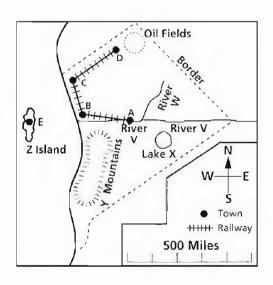

Describe the places and features of the maps on the left below, of an island, a city and a country, in the same way as in the previous exercises, assuming the outlines are given, as on the right.

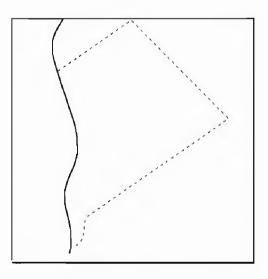

Newspaper Headlines

Certain words are used very often in newspaper headlines because they are short or sound dramatic. Some of these words are not common in ordinary language or are used in a different sense. Headlines also omit certain words and use colloquial expressions, abbreviations and different verb tenses, e.g. STAR TO WED (A film star is going to get married).

1 For each of the following headlines find the sentence below which expresses it as it would appear in an ordinary news announcement.

Colloquial English and Slang

The kind of informal English which is normal in ordinary conversation but is not considered acceptable in more formal language is called 'colloquial'. 'Slang' is even more informal language and consists mainly of particular words and phrases used principally by one group of people, e.g. young children, teenagers, students, professional people, working people etc. (The line between colloquial and slang words is not at all clear and many words considered colloquial by some people would be considered slang by others). After each conversation below, rewrite the conversation with the colloquial or slang item in a more formal style.

E.g. Alan: Do you fancy going to the pictures tonight?

Jill: Great. Hang on, though. There's something good on telly.

Answer:

Alan: Would you like to go the cinema this evening?

Jill: Wonderful. But wait. There's a good programme on television.

1 Peter: Lend us a few quid. I'm broke.

Tony: Here's a fiver. Peter: Smashing. Ta.

2 George: Where's my thingumajig? Eileen: Whatsisname's got it.

3 Chris: Do you like your new school?

Gus: It's OK.

Chris: And the kids in your class? Gus: They're a decent bunch.

Chris: And the teacher?

Gus: Oh, he's a terrific bloke.

4 Fred: I'm not too keen on this new guy in the office.

Alex: Yeah, he's a bit of a big-head. Throws his weight around.

Fred: Yeah, if I get any more hassle from him, I'm going to tell him what I think.

Alex: Come off it. You haven't got the guts. You'd get the sack.

5 Joe: Posh suit!

Brian: My grandparents' 50th wedding anniversary. We're having a bit of a do.

Joe: Come and have a drink first. On me.

Brian: Just for a mo. Mustn't get there plastered.

6 Mr Stanton: You look a bit fed up. What's up? Mr Moore: Someone's pinched my brolly and it's coming down in buckets.

Mr Stanton: Oh, tough luck.

- 7 Valerie: Saw a film the other night Chap falls for a girl, then discovers she's dying. Bit of a tear-jerker. I suppose it was pretty corny, but I liked it. Mary Major had a part in it. She must be pushing 70.
- 8 Bob: I think my old banger's clapped out. I'll have to get a new one.

Jim: Yes, it does look past it. What'll you get?

Bob: I rather fancy the new Rover.

Jim: Classy! It'li cost you a packet.

- 9 Donald: Someone's walked off with my specs! Sheila: Don't be daft. You've got them in your hand. Donald: Oh, yes. I'm going bonkers.
- 10 Ann: I'm afraid the new secretary's a dead loss, Joan. The red-head with the trendy clothes.

Joan. You're right. She thinks she's the cat's whiskers, but in actual fact she's a bit dim.

Ann. Yes, her work's poor and, as you say, she fancies herself. She's very snooty with the other staff.

Joan Do you think we ought to give her the push?

Ann: I'm afraid so, but she'll be shattered

SEX EQUALITY AND THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

The increasing demand for sex equality has had an effect on English grammar and vocabulary. We used to say, of a mixed class, 'Every student must make sure he has his student card'. Many people didn't accept this. It is rather a mouthful to say 'he or she', 'his or her' all the time, so we use 'they', 'their': 'Every student must make sure they have their student card.'

The title, 'Ms', for both married and unmarried women means that they, like men, need not advertise their marital status. Some people, in fact, are so determined to avoid male dominance in language that they use adapted words like 'personkind', 'herstory' and 'wimmin'.

Actresses now call themselves 'actors'. Words like 'salesman' and 'chairman' are disappearing, to be replaced by 'salesperson', 'chairperson' or simply 'chair'.

Euphemisms

To avoid referring too directly to unpleasant, embarrassing or personal matters we often prefer to use more indirect words or phrases, which are called euphemisms.

- 1 Rewrite the following sentences, replacing the euphemisms, in italics, with more simple, direct words or phrases.
- (a) I'm afraid Mrs Wild passed away last night.
- (b) Excuse me, where's the nearest public convenience?
- (c) Senior citizens are entitled to free bus travel.
- (d) Sadly, my grandmother is no longer with us.
- (e) In the middle of the exam I had to answer a call of nature.
- (f) His hat had seen better days.
- (g) We had to have our dog put to sleep.

The following sentences are very direct. Rewrite them, replacing the parts in italics with euphemisms.

E.g. She's very old.

She's not as young as she was/getting on/advanced in years.

- (a) He's fat and ugly.
- (b) I'm going to vomit.
- (c) She's a terrible cook
- (d) You were drunk last night.
- (e) This work is very careless.
- (f) Grandpa can hardly walk.
- 2 Instructions as in the first exercise above.
- (a) We were obliged to dispense with Miss Farr's services last month.
- (b) He has been asked to leave the country due to his involvement with activities incompatible with his diplomatic duties here.
- (c) The state has an obligation to assist the less privileged members of the community.
- (d) The estate agent says the house needs some attention.
- (e) The ambassador said the talks were likely to have a negative outcome.
- (f) Tourists are advised to avoid the less salubrious parts of the city.
- (g) Mr West has shown insufficient effort in the execution of his duties.

Instructions as in the second exercise above.

- (a) Your representative lied to us.
- (b) The talks were a waste of time.
- (c) He's always late for work.
- (d) Your product is very badly-made.
- (e) Our relations with your country are awful.
- (f) It would be stupid to go on strike now.
- (g) You owe us money.
- (h) We were very angry with your letter.

Britain

The election system

Put the following words or phrases in its correct place in the passage below.

proportional representation Member of Parliament call an election House of Commons stand for election General Election polling day canvassing secret ballot constituents constituencies polling stations by-election eligible deposit campaigns turn-out Middleford. Election Result.

No. of registered voters: 100,000

Mrs R. Green (Conservative) 25,000 votes
Mrs L. Jones (Independent) 10,000 votes
Mr W. Woods (Communist) 5,000 votes

A (a) has just taken place all over the United Kingdom. These must take place every five years unless the Prime Minister decides to (b) earlier. Above is the result in Middleford, one of the approximately 635 (c) into which the country is divided for this purpose. (d) was last Thursday, when the election (e) and door-to-door (f) stopped and the people of Middleford went to the (g) to make their choice, in a (h), from the four candidates (anyone over the age of 21 can (i), on payment of a (j) of £500, which is returned if he or she receives at least 5% of the votes cast). Voting is not compulsory and the number of people (k) to vote in Middleford (everyone over 18) was 100,000, so the (I) was 70%. Now Mr Smith will become the (m) for Middleford, which means he will represent the people of Middleford in the (n) in London. If he should die or be forced to give up his seat, the people of Middleford will have to vote again, in a (o) to replace him. It is a very simple system and Mr Smith will try to represent all his (p) fairly, whether they voted for him or not. However, the fact remains that most voters in Middleford voted for candidates (and parties) other than Mr Smith, and their votes are now lost. It is seats which are important in Parliament, not votes, and it is easy to see why the smaller parties would like a system of (q), in which the number of votes they won was reflected in the number of seats they received in Parliament.

Colloquial English and Slang (p.90)

1 Lend me a few pounds. I have no money. Here's a five-pound note. Wonderful, Thanks. 2 Where's my thing that I can't remember the name of? Someone whose name I've forgotten has it. 3 Do you like your new school? It's all right. And the children in your class? They're a pleasant group. And the teacher? Oh, he's a marvellous man. 4 I don't like the new man in the office very much. Yes, he's a bit of a conceited person. He uses his position unfairly. Yes, if I get any more trouble from him, I'm going to tell him what I think. Be serious. You haven't got the courage. You'd be dismissed. 5 High-class suit! My grandparents' 50th wedding anniversary. We're having a bit of a celebration. Come and have a drink first. At my expense. Just for a moment. Mustn't get there drunk. 6 You look a bit depressed. What's wrong? Someone's stolen my umbrella and it's pouring with rain. Oh, bad luck. 7 Saw a film the other night. A man falls in love with a girl, then discovers she's dying. Bit of a sad, emotional film. I suppose it was quite unoriginal and sentimental, but I liked it. Mary Major had a part in it. She must be nearly 70. 8 I think my old dilapidated car's worn out. I'll have to get a new one. Yes, it does look a bit too old to be of any more use. What'll you get? I guite like the new Rover. High-class, grand! It'll cost you a lot of money. 9 Someone's stolen my glasses! Don't be silly. You've got them in your hand. Oh, yes, I'm going mad, 10 I'm afraid the new secretary's completely useless, Joan. The redhead with the fashionable clothes. You're right. She thinks she is someone very special, but in actual fact she's a bit unintelligent and slow to understand. Yes, her work's poor and as you say, she has a high opinion of herself. She's very snobbish. supercilious with the other staff. Do you think we ought to dismiss her? I'm afraid so, but she'll be extremely upset.
